"An extraordinary personal glimpse of the war. A monumental credit to himself, his troops, and the United States of America." --the late Robin Moore, author of The Green Berets and The French Connection.

"A moving, gripping account of one of the most remarkable achievements of soldiering in a generation." --General Tommy Franks, author of American Soldier

"Steve delivers the most accurate account I have read to date."

--General Raymond T. Odierno, 4th Infantry Division (2002-2004), III Corps and Multi-National Corps - Iraq (2006-2008), Multi-National Force - Iraq (2008-2010)

"When I was embedded with Russell's battalion...I watched them tighten the noose on Saddam, but I never knew how they did it - until I read this book." --Brian Bennett, LA Times DC Corresp. and former Baghdad bureau chief of TIME magazine

"A ground eye view... and a model for the way [regular and Special Operations Forces] have worked together since." --Kim Dozier, AP, former CBS News Corresp. and author of Breathing the Fire

From the Inside Flap

When U.S. forces exterminated Osama bin Laden in Pakistan on May 1, 2011, the world cheered not only the death of the 9/11 terrorist mastermind but the unmatched might, skill, and perseverance of America's military elite. It was a brilliant example of history repeating itself in the most positive way; less than a decade earlier, the capture of Saddam Hussein, a triumph of military strategy in and of itself, opened the door for the most recent and essential victory in the War on Terror. Here is the riveting account of a grand human saga that tested every element of character and fortitude: the six-month manhunt that ended at a hole on the bank of the Tigris River, and the blow-by-blow plays of the actual raids that netted Saddam, culminating in the electrifying quote heard around the globe, "We Got Him!" No other event in Operation Iraqi Freedom caught the attention of the world like the hunt for and capture of Saddam Hussein. Square in the middle of the search, living in Saddam's hometown of Tikrit, were Lt. Col. Steve Russell and his men of the 1st Battalion, 22nd Infantry Regiment, 4th Infantry Division. Packed with rare photos and insider information, We Got Him! chronicles the day-by-day search and the successes and dead ends as regular and special-operations soldiers tore into Saddam's social networks. This is the definitive account of this major historical event and of the sacrifice that made it happen. It also provides a rare look at the enemy side of the action. With his extensive journal notes, combat reports, and painstaking research, Steve Russell has preserved the story as only someone who lived the experience can do.

We Got Him!

What an amazing documentation of the 1st Battalion, 22nd Infantry, 4th Division of the U.S. Army and the lives and struggles of those in uniform during their time in Tikrit, Iraq. Their sacrifice to our nation during the war in Iraq and the historic hunt for Saddam is spelled out in a gripping and touching way. General Raymond T. Odierno (Division Commander at the time) states in his foreword of the book: "...It is an honor for me to introduce this personal memoir by one of the finest battalion commanders with whom I have served. His story captures the human dimension of this awful thing we call war..." This book is a fast read and hard to put down. The author tastefully tells his story without foul language and overly gruesome details - much appreciated! It gives you a true idea of what our soldiers and their families sacrifice while we are going about our business back home oblivious to their hour by hour battles. Steve Russell places you right in the action from the beginning to the very end as they break through the web of families protecting Saddam. Through his words you feel like you are there; walking the streets, hearing the gun fire and bombs and dodging the bullets. You get to know them - you laugh with them, cry with them, cheer with them. The courage and fortitude these soldiers demonstrate is truly inspiring. Even if you know nothing about our military, you will enjoy this book. Steve Russell is a true leader, as a soldier and as a man. A huge thanks to you, Colonel Russell, and your soldiers for your service and sacrifice to our nation!

A Must Read!

By Andre LaPlume

I just finished reading this book and enjoyed every second of it. It is very hard to put down. Colonel Russell is a wonderful writer and tells the story with facts and details that make you feel you are right next to him throughout. I have read other books on the capture of Saddam Hussein and this surpasses them all. The men and women of our military are incredible! Their expertise, teamwork and perseverance are extraordinary. Thank you Steve Russell for sharing this story with us. It will stay with me forever.

Great read!!!

As a former member of Alpha Co., 1-22 INF, 4th ID it was an honor to serve under LTCOL Russell. 4th ID crossed into Iraq from Kuwait a month to the day after the war begun. My company, commanded by CPT Mark Stouffer, was located just south of Tikrit in a town called Owja or Al Owja (Saddam Hussein's actual birthplace). On Halloween night 2003 we surrounded the town with concertina wire leaving only one exit and entrance (through us), set up a checkpoint, occupied several observation posts along the town, and for the next two months conducted several operations within it in order to crush the insurgency in and around Tikrit. We became well known on CNN for that very action alone and were highly criticized for it...but it worked. I also took part in guarding the bodies of Saddam's sons after they were killed and transferred back to Tikrit for burial. That is a whole other story unto itself. And let us not forget December 13, 2003...I actually burned my hand before the raid that morning. That too is another story. I must say that those days were grueling for we worked day in and day out without a break for an entire year but it was all worthwhile for our hard work and determination paid off in a big way. Going on those raids and constant patrols is an experience I will NEVER forget...nor will I forget working along side TF 20 and 121. What a wonderful and highly professional group of men. I am thankful LTC Russell took the time and effort to tell our story. I am so proud of our accomplishment and am honored to have taken part in history. I am also thankful to have had a great leader such as he to keep us motivated during those trying times. Do yourself a favor and take the time to learn and savor what it was like to literally hunt down Saddam Hussein and his followers.
